The Intelligencer:

OFFICE: No. 15 Quincy Street. TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1873.

Picture of a Legislative Mob. If there is one legislative body in this country which least deserves the title it claims, it is the Pennsylvania Legislature which has just adjourned. It was elect-ed, like the West Virginia Legislature, with a great flourish of reform, and it has just gone home as ours has, with the unanimous wish of all who love good govern ment that it might stay there. The clos-ing scenes of the lower house were especially characteristic of the venal and rufpapers, driving him from the chair, howl-the pred and cheered like madmen, made the uncomfortable for respectable people, and very aptly wound up their orgies by playing a bur-leaque of reform. One of the last acts in the screaming farce in the House was to pass a resolution inviting Colonel McLure to deliver them a lecture on reform. This joke was received with immense applause by the troupe, and they sent s committee to the Senate to escort the victun to them. To their astonishment Colonel McLure accepted their invitation. and was followed by the whole Senate to the House. He took the Speaker's stand utmost satisfaction.

"I know of no other body of men,' said Colonel McClure, "either of the present or past, that-needs instruction on the necessity of both public and private morality so much as the House of Representatives of this State now before me [laughter], or that has so broadly and deeply experimented in the line of individual and official prafigiecy. [Laughter and applaine] I am not surprised, however, that it is so when I consider that of the members serving in this House from my immediate locality, many were not even nominated, and iew, if any, were ever elect d. [Shouts of laughter] I sent you reform bills, which cost me many days of anxious thought and labor to perfect, but you danced not when I piped utmost satisfaction. perfect, but you danced not when I piped to you, neither did you weep responsive to my mourning over the degeneracy of the body politic."

And further along be continued: "Most of you, who have for three months been serving in the places to which other persons were elected by the people, have discounted the retributive wave of popular reprobation by creating offices by legislative enactments to which omices by legislative enactments to which you hope to retire; and those unprovided for hope to be placed on the indefinite pay roll of the pasters and folders of the House, in accordance with the prevalent custom here to pension decayed statesmen. [Shouts of laughter] That you roll sink the payers are all liberty contracts to have good send seek liberal counsels to have good seed sown in the chaos of virtue that surrounds sown in the choos of virtue that surrounds you is a hopeful sign of the times, and if you do not cheat us more than thirty thousand in Philadelphia next fall, the places that know you now will know most of you no more forever. [Laughter.] But I turn to the taint siver lining on the deep cloud of your record. One act of this house gladdened the hearts of the whole people of the State, and reinspired hops throughout the length and breadth of the commonwealth. I refer to breadth of the commonwealth. I refer to bleadth of the commonwealth. I refer to your vote, in the midst of disorder that at Philadelphia fire would be called a riot, on Monday evening last, fixing an early day for your final adjournment [Laughter and applause] I have heard of no citizen of the State who did not heartly approved that act. [Laughter] heartily approve of that act. [Laughter] I am happy to point to it as the oasis in the withered desert that you have made about you, and to accord you credit for it. Hoping, gentlemen—if I may be pardoned the use or the term— [laughter] that the length of your official lives may correspond with the measure of your virtues, and that you will be succeeded by better men than yourselves, I bid you good night."

The Drift of Money Matters in Encope. (From the Phil, Record)

The causes at work in the chief money markets of Europe have a tendency to enhance the value of money both in Eng-land and on the continent. The most land and on the continent. The most astute bankers in London, it is said by the financial writers, find it most difficult to foretell the course of the market oven in the immediate luture. It is asserted that the immediate uture. It is asserted that the French government will be compelled to have recourse to a fresh loan of £40,000 000, about $200 000,000, in order to complete the entire payment of their obligations to Germany. This is, however, gations to Germany. This is, however, semi officially denied, a statement having been issued showing that they had re-ceived about £30,000,000 out of the total subscription of £140,000,000, in the short subscription of £140,000,000, in the subtreperiod of about seven months, and it is reckoned that by August next they will have received about £120,000,000—the amount requiring to be paid to Germany at the time of the subscription. There are also other causes for distrust The Turkish government is asking for £50,000,000 in a for event is asking to £50,000,000 in a 5 per cent loun issued at 60 Russia wants £25,000,000. Italy £10,000,000, and some of the South American republics smaller sums. Denmark, Sweden and Norwry are about to change their coinage and adopt a gold standard, and for this purpose they are now purchasing gold in the London markets. Even the Dutch republic which has so innecessing with respectively addressed to lic, which has so tenaciously adhered to lic, which has so tenaciously adhered to silver, have been compelled to fall in with the times and yield so far as the standard of value is concerned to the example of the German empire. These are the reasons for the extreme sensitiveness of the London financial managers and the caution which prompts the Bank of England Our finances are so closely interwoven with those of England, in consequence of the large amount of our indebtedness. of the large amount of our indebtedness abroad, liable at a short notice to be converted into a demand loan, that our bank-ers and merchants cannot too closely watch the financial signs of the times abroad.

A little fellow who claims to be fourten years of age, but in appearance is not over ten, came trudging into the Allegheny Mayor's office hast night with a well worn carpet bag under his arm. He wanted to stay all night, and after some questioning, admitted that he was very hungry and would be thankful for anything to eat that might be given him. He was a manly little Itllow, and told his story tearfully but plainly, and with a straightforward determination that showed honesty as well as economy.

He had been living with his mother in Wheeling, his tather being dead, but the glass house in which he worked was reserved to Kirkwood and he lest his job.

TOT OF GROUND 94 X 130 FT.

Wheeling, his lather being dead, but the glass house in which he worked was removed to Kirkwood, and he leat his job. He found it impossible to find anything to do in Wheeling, and, with his mother's consent, had boidly struck out for this city to "hunt up a job." He had promised his mother that if he could not find work he would get back to her in some way, and as he had spent every cent he possessed in his vais trial, he had conluded to walk home to keep his word.

In the lower part of Allegheny he had net a man who told him he had better go o the Mayor's office and spend the night, and that either something would be done and that either something would be done for him or at least he could get a tresh start in the morning, so he had turned back. After hearing his story the detectives sent him to get a good supper and provided him a place to sleep. It is probable that this morning he will be helped along his road in a more speedy manner than by footing it. than by footing it.
